

BMH TECHNOLOGY WILL NOW ACT AS SUPPLIER OF SAIMATEC ENGINEERING OY'S MATERIAL HANDLING EQUIPMENT

BMH Technology is expanding its product offering in material handling equipment and strengthens its Life Cycle Services business. BMH Technology Oy has on November 30th, 2022, acquired the product rights of Saimatec Engineering Oy's material handling equipment through a business acquisition. The key products in the material handling equipment product family are the HELP bin discharger, screw discharger, silos and the related spare parts and maintenance business.

'I am happy to welcome Saimatec's material handling equipment into BMH's product family. In the future, customers will receive support for their equipment maintenance and development from BMH' says Mikko Osara, President and CEO of BMH Technology. This business acquisition is part of BMH Technology Group's strategy to grow in Life Cycle Services business.

Additional information on Saimatec Engineering Oy:

Since 1981, Saimatec Engineering Oy has operated internationally as a systems supplier for the pulp&paper industry. Saimatec's product lines have been material handling equipment, of which the product rights were now acquired by BMH, as well as paper roll handling and wrapping systems. This latest business divestment is the last significant part of Saimatec's restructuring plan started in 2017. Product rights of roll wrapping and roll handling systems were sold to Uproval Oy already in 2018. Therefore, Saimatec's both main businesses have now been transferred to industrial enterprises operating in the international market, ensuring continued customer support without any interruptions.
